Another thing that probably had weight with Mr. Rockefeller in deciding to close his kennels is the fact that Percival D.
Rockefeller, his brother, has just completed a two-hundred-and-fifty-thousand dollar summer home that stands as close to the kennels as his own house does. There are neighbors, too, within earshot who may have had opinions on the sub-> cut, and it has been reported that the half dozen machines he now own will soon be only a part of his "stable."

With the closing of the kennels Mr.

Rockefeller is expected to make auto-
